Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra Announces “Student and Teacher Appreciation Day” for performance November 17 at the Hilbert Circle Theatre

All students and teachers with valid school I.D. can purchase $10 tickets to Sunday concert featuring music by Ravel and Debussy

Students encouraged to wear high school or college gear

INDIANAPOLIS –The Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra is going the extra mile to acknowledge and thank all students and educators at its Sunday, Nov. 17 Lilly Classical Series performance by offering $10 main floor and second mezzanine tickets to students and teachers with valid school I.D. (regularly $13).

The “Student and Teacher Appreciation Day” one-hour concert begins at 2 p.m. and features works by the French masters Maurice Ravel and Claude Debussy, performed without intermission. Students can take advantage of discounted rides to the Hilbert Circle Theatre via Uber car service (using promo ISO25) and are encouraged to attend the performance in school colors or logo wear. All patrons can enjoy complimentary food from PEARings Frozen Yogurt & Beyond in the lobby before the concert.

“We’re delighted to recognize and celebrate the students and teachers in our city and state who continue to attend our concerts, participate in our programs and enthusiastically support our Orchestra, each and every year,” said Gary Ginstling, CEO of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra. “I hope to see a lot of schools represented in the audience on November 17 for this special performance!”

Conducted by Carlo Rizzi and joined on stage by the Indianapolis Children’s Choir for the two Debussy works, the ISO will perform Ravel’s Le Tombeau de Couperin and La Valse and Debussy’s Nocturnes and La Damoiselle élue with renowned sopranos Isabel Bayrakdarian and Christine Brandes.

Non-student ticket prices for this concert range from $15-$52 and can be ordered online at www.IndianapolisSymphony.org or by calling the ISO Box Office at (317) 639-4300.
